Junior Front-End Developer

I am a Frontend developer looking for an opportunity to be employed as a Junior/Trainee Frontend Developer. My decision to change position of an experienced architect to Frontend developer is well-considered and grounded in the expertise I have gained and a determined desire for career growth.

For me, architecture and web development share a fundamental approach - creating comfortable, aesthetic, and functional environments for people. However, I see more prospects and possibilities for personal fulfillment and professional advancement in the IT-field. So, I believe that dedication to learning and the previous experience I've acquired will help me achieve the goals I've set.
